A Place to Gather

After the harvest is in, the chores are done, and the ships have returned from the choppy Atlantic, New Englanders fill the long dark hours by welcoming neighbors and family.

Follow the Story

Goodwin House – 1870 Family Gathering

Children, grandchildren, cousins and more fill the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin on Christmas Eve. The adults are making a ribbon maze while the children prepare gifts, and the servants talk about their own Irish traditions.

Rider-Wood House – 1824 Traditions from Home

The Rider-Wood family is preparing for a holiday like they celebrated back in England, with special food and song.

Aldrich Memorial – 1919 Museum Season

The Thomas Bailey Aldrich Memorial has just finished its tenth season, and Mrs. Mary Griffin has opened the museum for a Christmastime visit.

Shapiro House – 1919 Old World Traditions

On the seventh night of Hanukkah the Shapiro family celebrates by eating traditional foods and playing special Hanukkah games. They learn from their neighbors some other “Old World” traditions.

Abbott House & Store – 1943 Wartime Christmas

Mrs. Abbott’s kitchen is full of the neighborhood children, who are assembling packages to send overseas.

Wheelwright House – 1783 Keeping Warm

The Wheelwright children and their neighbors are making warming foods with exotic spices to insulate against the cold weather.

Shapley-Drisco House -

1795 – Dressing Up

Mr. Shapley’s shop is brimming with goods from far-away ports. But the parlor is full of plans for the social event of the season.

1955 – Avon Calling!

Join the ladies of the Day family as they prepare to host a Holiday Avon Party.
